Why Join The Tyler Wren Team?

We're a tight-knit, collaborative team and genuinely excited about welcoming fresh faces who want to grow and thrive with us. We're passionate about changing people's lives through recruitment, but just as importantly, we fiercely protect our team culture. We value a supportive environment, ongoing development, and helping each other progress in our careers.

We're a down-to-earth, diverse bunch who enjoy a bit of banter and don't take ourselves too seriously. Full disclosure, you'll need to love dogs, as our furry friends are regulars in the office. We work hard, but we also make the most of flexible working and work from home options.

Every person in our team is experienced, supportive, motivating, and genuinely invested in mentoring others, alongside being very good recruiters.

We also offer something a little different. Our model includes the wonderful Vikki, based in the UK. With years of industry experience, Vik works closely with candidates planning a return or relocation to New Zealand and Australia, allowing us to place great people before they even land.

We're not afraid to admit recruitment has its challenges, but it also comes with some pretty great rewards. We love celebrating our wins with regular team outings, lunches and dinners, and we often include our wider families too.

Our office culture is second to none. We work hard, and there's plenty of banter along the way. We're an incredibly social team, and recently we've been to vineyards, zip-lining, climbed the Harbour Bridge, got a little competitive at bowls, and the list goes on.

There's a wide range of benefits on offer, some designed to support the modern-day challenges we all face, and others more traditional but just as important.
